

POINTS TO EXODUS FROM FARMS AS A MENACE TO NATION

Departure of Farmers to City
Declares History's Greatest Population Movement

MADISON, Wis. — "Farmers are moving to cities because of bankruptcy. The rural exodus in 1922 was greater than the total population of the six states—Arizona, New Mexico, Montana, Nevada, Utah and Wyoming. It constitutes one of the greatest menaces to national prosperity."

Writing in La Follette's Magazine this month, Basil M. Manly, a distinguished economist, declares that the exodus of the farmers to the cities is probably the greatest movement of population in the history of the world.

"Although the farmers have been thus grossly deceived regarding city conditions," declared Mr. Manly, "this is not the fundamental cause of their migration. They had to move. Millions were utterly ruined by the crash of agricultural prices in 1920 and 1921. In county after county, in the Northwest and South particularly more than half of the farms were sold for taxes. Page after page of the country weeklies during the past year have been filled with tax sale notices of once prosperous farms."

Many Are Bankrupt

"Think of it! Men and women past middle age, thrifty and industrious, who counted themselves worth ten, twenty, thirty thousand dollars in 1919, sold out for taxes in 1922 and ended their lives in the city. Where could they go? To the pearhouse, to the insecure and bitter life of a farm laborer, or to the city. So hundreds of thousands facing this miserable choice, have sold their little furniture and the few personal effects they were able to save from the wreck of bankruptcy and have come to the city."

"For the present, at least, in the high tide of an industrial boom, the city may absorb them. But what of the future? What will happen when the factories, responding to the dwindling demand from the country for manufactured products, begin to back their fires and cut millions from their payrolls without a day's notice."

Worse Than 1920

"Then there will be unemployment and distress, far worse than we knew in 1920, when 5,000,000 men and women were out of work. It will be worse even than the dark days of the 'hungry nineties' when the jobless roamed the street, hunting work at any price, and there were soup kitchens in every city. It will be worse for this reason. In the nineties, though factories were closed down, food was cheap and a few pennies would feed a family. Now, when the full effects of the agricultural migration are felt, food will be scarce and dear. What a tragedy that will be. Millions of men out of work and food selling at famine prices, because the country-side has been deserted by farmers seeking to better their lives in the cities. Ask the people of Moscow and Vienna what this means. They know.

Menace to Workers

"This movement from the farms to the cities is, therefore, particularly a menace to the workers in the city factories and on the railroads. It is a greater menace than the now nearly defunct 'open-shop' drive. It is a greater menace than unrestricted immigration."

"The industrial workers have succeeded in checking the deluge of foreign immigration, but what of this greater tide that is moving from the country to the cities? It cannot be checked by putting up the bars, by passing immigration laws, establishing 'quotas' and 'selective tests'."

Why We "Fidget"

THERE is the old question as to what makes the wild cat wild. Today we wonder what makes everybody restless, including ourselves. There seems to be two reasons. One is that business enterprise has created a vast array of luxuries and conveniences which, naturally, all of us want. Another is that many of us have found the strife to acquire them burdensome, and so seek some process by which they will fall into our laps.

We are told by a certain statistician that in round numbers the American housewife used a total of 14,000,000 household implements, time savers and work savers, such as vacuum cleaners, electric fans, clothes washers, toasters, percolators, sewing, washing and ironing machines and dish washers. This is the electric group alone, and by no means includes all of them. The electric investment of the country is already $5,000,000,000 and is growing rapidly. The country has from 22,000,000 to 23,000,000 homes. One sees that in purchasing the useful implements operated by electricity alone, an immense burden has come to the people. We know of the gasoline costs, because it has made the family flier almost a necessity of life. Gas equipment costs every home where gas is available, money. And it is to get these necessities and conveniences that every family strives, and the failure to get as many of them as are desired tends to make us restless and unhappy.

This would not be so bad, for having things for which to strive is not an unhealthy condition—as long as we continue to strive. But too many of us have come to want them without commensurate efforts. Someone has likened these people to the jelly-fish. When it wants food it opens up like a clam until something drifts into its maw. Then it closes up. There is a controversy as to whether it thinks at all. People who play the jelly-fish game in life think very little. They simply open their hands and mouths until something satisfying comes along. If it doesn't come, they talk about revolution.

Just now we all seem to have turned our attention to ways and means of allaying the current unrest. We can put it in terms of many different things, but what it all gets back to—this thing we are seeking—is a way in which we can give every one so much of the comforts and conveniences offered by modern invention and enterprise, that all will be satisfied. We flood the world with new treasure that every one wants, and we are trying to adjust ourselves to its possession and use in an equitable manner. But should we so arrange human situations that all would be contented today, tomorrow we would find a new discontent. In "a dream of 2,500 A. D." a current writer visualizes people living in aeroplanes, and moving their houses about the world at pleasure. Travel was everyone's right. Cities were no longer residential places, but mere workshops. The energy of the atom had been released. Farming was done under glass, with the intensity of the sun's rays scientifically intensified. One need not go on. Imagination will do the rest. All we need reflect is that then, as now, we'll have the age old problem of seeing to it that at least a majority of people get all they want of whatever they want, or the government is going to catch it.

Fundamentals

MR. CHARLES H. YOUNG, eminent engineer and proponent of the Winneshiek drainage project and the other projects designed to convert the bottom lands of the Mississippi River into farm acreage, sets forth skillfully and temperately the case for the drainage in this issue. With much that Mr. Young says it is not hard to agree. But the central fact remains, after all is said, that in draining the bottom lands of the Mississippi an irreparable damage would be done to the last refuge, feeding and breeding ground of fish and game in the middle west, a resource that belongs to all of the people. And the benefit that might possibly accrue would be pocketed by the very few owners of land in these bottoms.

Mr. Young's statement that it is proposed to deprive the owners of this land of the use of their holdings in order that sportsmen and the rest of the people may profit by their loss, is a suppositious and fallacious argument. No one in his senses imagines that the Bottoms Park could be accomplished by confiscation. No one supporting the movement would want it to be accomplished so, even were there any legal way to invade the rights of individuals. If the federal government creates the park it will be by due process of law, amply protecting the rights of the land-owners and insuring to them full payment of the equitable value of their lands. It could not be done otherwise, and every reasonable man knows it.

Granted—which many experts deny—that the bottoms will make good farm land; granted, if you will, that it will make farm land equal to the best in the nation, there are still overwhelming reasons why the bottoms should not be drained. Mr. Young estimates that there are only 100,000 acres in the bottoms that can economically be drained with any prospect of making decent agricultural land out of it, in the whole distance from St. Paul to Rock Island. We submit that there is no pressing necessity, no overcrowding shortage of production of grain and livestock in this country that makes it imperative, or even desirable, to add 100,000 acres to the available arable land. We do not yet, thank Heaven, need to plow under the last remnants of the bewildering beauty of outdoor America to feed a starving people. Not too little, but too much, agricultural production is the pressing economic problem of the day. This is not a land like China, where every stick of wood and blade of grass must be devoured to keep the people alive. On the contrary, every issue of every newspaper the country over proclaims the distressing abundance of the farms, pouring out food in quantities that glut the market and drive the farmers to organize for less, not more, cultivation.

And certainly we do not need and cannot afford to make 100,000 acres of featureless farm land out of a beauty that any other civilized nation in the world would give hundreds of millions to possess. There is no compensation for the hundred and ten millions of people whose heritage is the wild life resources of the nation in creating a few farms out of the Mississippi Bottoms. Fish and game, we say, cannot vote. But the lovers of fish and game can and do vote, and they are awakening, almost too late, to the passing of the inheritance which they received from the pioneers. It is unbelievable that, when they are once awakened to the imperilled resources of the Mississippi Bottoms, to the meaning of the endangered remnant of all that differentiated the beginnings of the American nation from the closely-packed man-warrens of the old world—it is unthinkable that they will sit idly by and let the destruction be completed. Dike and drain the bottoms, and it will be all over. Wild fowl and game fish will be gone for good, for they cannot breed in the haunts of men. They are dwindling fast. Only the secure fastnesses of the Mississippi Bottoms are left to them in the middle west, and if that too is to disappear they will vanish like the passenger pigeon, and the bison.

A hundred thousand acres of farm land owned by a few hundred men will not be sufficient compensation.

Over the Hedge

BY JANE OSBORN

Alice Terry had planned to sleep late—and she would have done so had it not been for the snap-snap of the clipping shears.

"Snap-snap—snap-snap—" She had heard it in a half-dozing condition and she had been so startled by it that she had been on her feet for several hours. Suddenly, realizing what it meant, she dragged her sleepy body out of bed, threw a blanket around her head and shoulders, by way of hiding the fact that she was not dressed for the day, and looked out of the window. Fifty feet away on the other side of the hedge, a young man could be seen. He held the clipping shears, and even as she looked he had snipped away a privet twig a foot or so in height.

"Stop, stop, please!" demanded Alice Terry.

The young man looked about and then at Alice's window. He doffed his hat and stopped. "Good morning," he said. "You mean the hedge?"

"Yes," cried Alice. "Of course I mean the hedge. We want it to grow. We like it that way."

"I'm sorry," said the young man, smiling. "But my uncle wants it down."

"Your uncle?" scoffed Alice, clutching the edges of the blanket under her chin in a firmer grasp. "What has your uncle got to say—but please wait. I'll be down in five minutes or so. Don't cut another bit of that hedge, please."

The young man laid the scissors down and sat himself on the ground beside the hedge. He surveyed the blisters on his hands and then he lighted a cigarette, the smoking of which would while away the time until Alice Terry arrived. He knew perfectly well that her name was Alice Terry and that she was the only child of the Terrys who owned the property immediately adjoining the lake estate that his uncle had recently acquired.

But when ten minutes later the auburn-haired young woman, looking very fresh and crisp, appeared on the scene and introduced herself, he did not tell her that he had already taken pains to find out who she was. "I really mustn't cut that hedge," she said, trying to be severe, but finding it a little difficult under the glance of those genial blue eyes of the young man who had introduced himself as Fred Harlow. "You see, we like it high. We'd like it even higher."

"But most people like them lower," was Fred's comment from the other side of the hedge. They were standing at arm's length that Fred had already cut. Otherwise Alice would not have been able to see across.

"I don't know what most people like," she answered. "Usually, the fact that most people like a thing is pretty good reason why I wouldn't do it. Tell you we want the hedge left high."

"But I really need the exercise," said Fred. "I'm a couple of pounds overweight—my uncle was willing to have me do this."

"But that has nothing to do with it. My father had that hedge planted ten years ago. We've never had it trimmed at all except a little at first to make it thick. We want it high—why in England—and—places like that," went on Miss Terry, charming as she became more and more serious. "They have stone walls or brick walls."

"Who cares for what they have in England?" smiled the young man opening the scissors as if to begin clipping again.

"Don't you dare clip another twig off this privet," ordered Alice. "It's outrageous," and she looked even more charming when she was angry.

"I wasn't going to," said Fred with maddening composure. "I was just exercising the scissors and my arms. As I was saying, the American plan is to leave hedges open and to cut hedges low. What's the use of having a beautiful place if other people can't see it?"

"How ridiculous!" said Alice Terry. "What's the use of having a garden if you and your friends can't enjoy it? Why, we just about live in our garden—have afternoon tea under the trees, sew there and take naps in hammocks. I think it's very ostentatious to think you must show your garden just because it is well kept. Excuse me for speaking so plainly—" she said interrupting herself.

"I don't object in the least," said Fred. "I rather enjoy it."

"You're extremely impertinent," flared Alice. "I think it would be best for my father to talk to you about this. In the meantime, please don't clip another bit of our hedge. It is bad enough to do what you have done. I think we could have you sued for that."

"I am sure you could not," said Fred. But Alice Terry was too upset to continue the argument. She tried several times that day to tell her father all about it, but her father was so engrossed in the golf tournament soon to take place that he had no ears for so trivial a matter as a hedge.

"I am sure you could not," said Fred. But Alice Terry was too upset to continue the argument. She tried several times that day to tell her father all about it, but her father was so engrossed in the golf tournament soon to take place that he had no ears for so trivial a matter as a hedge.

"I wish you'd listen to me," insisted Alice. "He was frightfully impertinent."

"Pooh, pooh," said the father. "I don't think he intended to be. Might ask the young fellow over some time. I understand he plays a pretty neat game of golf himself."

And so the matter rested for a day or two. Then just as Alice had stretched herself comfortably in a long chair with her magazine there was that alarming "snap-snap" sound again. It was the hedge clippers. She jumped to her feet and ran across the grass.

Fred Harlow was there at the little opening in the hedge, about to continue his destructive work.

"I thought I got you to demand not to touch that hedge," complained Alice. "I am sure my father would object."

"I didn't promise," insisted Fred, and then somehow the subject was

Eight-Hour Day Blessing In Steel Mills, Declares Great Britain's 'Gary'

BY MILTON BRONNER

LONDON.—The eight-hour day in the steel industry of Great Britain is not a theory nor a day dream. It is a fact.

The next day when Alice was enjoying a cup of afternoon tea with a young woman house guest the snap-snap began again. Alice put her cup and saucer down on the tea wagon and fled to the hedge. Fred met her with a smile and Alice could not keep back a laugh.

"I really am going to clip the hedge today," he said.

"Oh, please don't," begged Alice. "You know you have no right to."

"Certainly I have," insisted Fred. "To be sure you people planted the hedge, but you planted it on the land that we have since bought. I took the trouble to have the place surveyed. So you see the hedge is ours to do what we want with. And I have nothing to do—so I'll go ahead."

"Oh, dear," sighed Alice. "Won't you come over and drink tea with us? That would give you something to do—not very exciting, but as good as clipping a hedge."

Fred was over the hedge in one leap and made the tea party invitation an excuse to spend the remainder of the afternoon with his neighbor.

The next day much the same thing occurred. When he left he said, "I'm going to start clipping that hedge every day and several times a day. I looked forward to spending a month here with my uncle as something of a bore. He has important business to go over with me and I have to be about morning to consult with him when he wants to. But it's been great—hedge clipping—and seeing you."

"But why in the world did you ever start to clip that hedge?" asked Alice. "You must have known that if we had wanted it low we would have had it clipped. And just because it was a few inches on your property was not a very good excuse. Why did you do it?"

"Because I had had tantalizing views of a very pretty girl over the hedge. I had fallen in love with that pretty girl and I wanted to get more than fleeting views through the hedge. So I thought I'd cut it down—since it hid her from me."

"I'm sure I don't know whom you mean," fibbed Alice Terry, and Fred didn't tell her. Because just then Alice's father appeared to talk about the golf tournament.

"Who says I haven't benefited my family by playing golf?" boasted Mr. Terry three weeks later when his daughter told him of her engagement to Fred Harlow. "If Fred hadn't come over to see me that afternoon of the tournament and if we hadn't got to talking golf I don't suppose he would ever have come to know you."

And Fred and Alice let him think his own way.

TRACES OF ANCIENT RACE ARE FOUND ON ISLANDS IN PACIFIC

Find Evidences of Unknown Civilization Which Existed Two Thousand Years Ago

HONOLULU — Traces of a hitherto unknown civilization that may have existed in the Pacific 2,000 years ago have been discovered on the little islands of Necker and Nihoa in the Hawaiian bird reservation, to the northwest of the Hawaiian group proper, according to the revelations made by returning members of a government scientific party which is investigating and surveying the islands about the U. S. S. Tanager.

For centuries past these isolated spots have sheltered the secret of one powerful colonies that may have flourished prior to the main Polynesian migration which resulted in the settlement of the Hawaiian group, according to A. L. C. Atkinson, president of the territorial board of agriculture and forestry, who was one of the scientific party. Time and the elements have failed to obliterate the traces of the temples, houses, and the agricultural systems of long ago, and it is expected that the discoveries of the scientists may aid appreciably in the final solution of the problem of the origin and migration of the Polynesian race.

Tools wrought from solid stone, a headless idol, and a stone adz were among the many specimens that the party brought back from the islands. The scientists told of fallen foundations that once supported houses, scores of stone monuments, the ruins of what were terraces upon which foodstuffs were grown, and the ruins of temples—evidence, it was said, that tended to show that Necker and Nihoa were cradles of civilization and the rendezvous of a people who were skilled in crude handicrafts and the art of navigation thousands of years ago. These specimens, together with all others gathered by the Tanager party are being studied by scientists here now.

GIRLS' SUMMER CAMPS

BY JANE DEETER RIPPIN

Camp Furniture

COW

CAMP STOOL

When you get out in the woods to enjoy the freedom and unconventionality of camp life, you will find great fun in leaving behind as much of the atmosphere of "civilization" as you possibly can.

This applies particularly to camp furniture. Easy chairs do not harmonize with an outdoor camp. Girls who want to enjoy camp life to the limit make their own camp furniture.

Did you ever hear of a "camp pig" or a "camp cow"? They are seats or benches that are very useful to have around the campfire circle.

How They're Made

A "pig" is made of a whole log set up off the ground about one foot on rustic legs. The legs are made of two branches whittled to a point and driven into holes which have been bored in the log. Afterward drive a nail into the side of each leg in order to hold it in place.

The bark may or may not be peeled off, just as you like. It looks more rustic if you leave it on. This article of camp furniture is called a "pig" because it looks as sturdy and the body of its as fat and rotund—just as if it could waddle off at any minute.

Sometimes half logs are easier to find near camp. These can be used in the same way as whole logs and when one of them is made into a bench the flat surface is turned up. This reduces the final appearance of the seat, and perhaps makes it look more like a "cow" than a "pig."

Whether you make "camp cows" or "camp pigs" depends largely on whether or not the logs you have to work with are large or small.

There is another attractive piece of camp furniture that girl campers can make without much difficulty. This is a camp stool, which resembles an old-fashioned milk maid stool.

Saw off a six-inch cross-section of a good sized log. Two holes part way through on the under side, and drive in three sharpened logs of smaller size. Use nails to keep the legs in place. Use the same as in the benches.

A dining-table can be made by nailing cross-pieces on the circular sides of two half-logs and driving in four long and slender logs at the corners to serve as legs. A better table, of course, can be built if you can find a couple of bear's legs. Sawed the right length and legs for legs nailed to the cross pieces underneath.

ACTRESS MOTHER TELLS HOW TO USE MOVIES TO TRAIN CHILD

ALICE BRADY AND HER SON, DONALD

By MARILYN HALE

NEW YORK. — Alice Brady has played many difficult roles on the stage and on the screen, but in none has she been more charming or intelligent than in the one she has never seen—that of devoted mother.

To hear her planning his future and expounding her theories on education, you might easily believe you were listening to an authority on child psychology or some ardent disciple of John Dewey.

"His health is his greatest consideration now," she told me. "I'm tremendously proud of the fact that he's never been ill and is a perfectly normal child, but I'm looking forward eagerly to the time when his mind will need training."

"That's the reason I'm starting a film library for him now. I buy up all the old educational films I can find, and I expect the camera to be his best teacher."

Movies Help

"Don't you remember how tentative you got in school, no matter how your teacher tried to interest you, or how much you knew?"

"I certainly do. And I believe that graphic representation such as is possible with a motion picture camera would help a child over such stretches."

"I have hundreds of films for Donald. Some of them make geography so fascinating I can't realize I ever hated it so. In others history becomes the splendid drama it should be, and elementary science is just as exciting as any story you can find."

I asked Miss Brady if she had been reading "A Mother's Letters to a Schoolmaster" and had been influenced by that.

Hands, Too

"My ideas are my own, based on experience and observation," she replied. "But don't think I plan just

Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association Field Worker Here

Miss Nell Van Kooy, field worker for the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association, spent two days in La Crosse this week. A committee meeting was held while she was here. The clinic held by the association a short time ago was one of the most successful clinics which has been held in La Crosse. Another clinic is to be held here this fall.

Miss Thompson, who has been doing follow-up work for the association, will finish her work here soon. She reports that at present there are thirty-eight people in the county sanatorium, Oak Forest, at Onalaska.

The Wisconsin Nurses' association expects to hold its annual meeting in La Crosse September 26-27-28. Miss Van Kooy, Dr. Parks from the state board of control and Mrs. Bruce, local social service worker, will take active parts in the meeting.

DESTITUTE SINGER TO ASK RESTITUTION OF BADGER PROPERTY

Claims Possessions Were Destroyed While She Was Illegally Imprisoned

GREENVILLE, Ill.—Mme. Pauline L'Allemand, grand opera star of thirty years ago, who is living in destitute circumstances at Beaver Creek, near here, Friday asserted she would make every effort to have Wisconsin restore her alleged lost fortune of $50,000. She declared her possessions were destroyed by fire while she and her son, Edgar, were held incommunicado in the State Hospital for Insane at Mendota, Wis., several years ago. Saying their incarceration was illegal she expressed the opinion Wisconsin should make restitution as she and her son were prevented from looking after their possessions. The once famous diva, whose rich coloratura soprano voice thrilled Europe and America in the eighties and nineties, and who composed the opera "The Cap of Confusion," resides in three uncarpeted rooms while her son does out a living for the two as a day laborer. She was the star of the American Opera company and the Boston Ideal Opera company, and while employed by the latter organization was said to have been the highest paid person singing in English on the American stage.

Born in Syracuse, N. Y., the former diva began her operatic career at the age of ten. Her father was Lucas Ellsasser.

After her husband, Marcus L'Allemand, died in Vienna in 1913, she and her son went to Black River Falls, Wis., so that the lad could work on an invention—an aluminum violin, without disturbance.

Mme. L'Allemand stated she purchased 120 acres of land, and that a man paid her several visits to induce her to sell the farm.

On August 23, 1920, this man and another came to the farm and took her son and herself to jail where they were held for five days, after which they were confined in the insane hospital for 18 months, she related.

She asserted they were held incommunicado at the hospital, and that their release finally was obtained by a Catholic priest, Father Minnewegon.

Returning home, Mme. L'Allemand asserted the place had been destroyed by fire.

She stated the house contained art objects, theatrical costumes and jewels, besides its furnishings and indications were that what objects may have escaped the flames had been stolen.

WAGE PARLEY DEAD- LOCKED ON OPEN SHOP

mands were designed to compel. The operators agreed "in principle" to those requesting that the wage schedule be brought up to date.

The miners also elucidated their demand for an equalization of prices charged the miners for rented company houses, and for coal. In some regions, they said, the miners complained that coal was too high priced, and that other collieries sold it to employees at lower rates.

Operators asserted that all companies gave the miners reduced prices on coal and on the homes they rented. In fact, they said, some miners made a profit by subletting their company homes while they lived in houses they built for themselves.

Denounce Closed Shop
The operators denounced the closed shop as an illegal monopoly, not conducive to fair play for all workmen, and un-American. They declared they would not sign any contract that would, "in theory or practice," be exclusive or monopolistic or embody the principles of the closed shop.

The check-off was rejected because the operators, as an adviser put it, could see "no more sense" why the United Mine Workers should ask the operators to underwrite its dues than any other union should ask as much of any other industry. The check-off is the system by which a union man's dues were held from his pay and turned into the union's coffers by the company.

All that prevented the immediate collapse of negotiations after the miners declared there was "no more use in conferring" was their concession to the operators, petition for a truce and another session, tomorrow, in order that both sides might "sleep on the question and some one might have a change of heart."

What Miners Demand

At the end of a session at the Hotel Ambassador devoted wholly to a discussion of the miners' demand for "complete recognition of the union," including general inauguration of the closed shop and the check-off system of collecting dues from the pay roll, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, introduced a resolution, which read:

"Resolved, That the principle of complete recognition the check-off, as expressed in demand No. 1, be adopted."

The four union delegates voted "yes." The four operators voted "no."

"Might As Well Adjourn"

Mr. Lewis then said that so far as the miners were concerned some concession to that demand would be considered a necessary feature of the next wage contract, and if the operators were "arbitrarily rejecting the proposition the conferences might as well adjourn."

The operators caucused. Returning to the conference room, they announced they were unanimous in their refusal to grant the demand.

"Is that final?" Mr. Lewis asked. "We presume it is," answered S. D. Warner, spokesman for the operators. He asked, however, for another conference tomorrow before acknowledging a definite break and permitting the prospect of a realignment of possibility to that of almost certainty. The miners agreed.

POINTDEX, Sask.—A cloud of millions of grasshoppers, about an eighth of a mile wide and several miles long, obscured the sky above this town for three hours Thursday. The insects, blown along by a breeze about 100 feet above the ground, were carried toward the northwest.

JERUSALEM SHRINES HELD BY AMERICAN RELIEF UNITS

JERUSALEM.—The three most important "holy places" of the Armenian Catholic church are now occupied by American relief units, according to the annual report of the American Patriarch here. They are: The St. James Monastery on Mount Zion, the official residence of the Armenian Patriarch and the Convent of the Holy Cross.

St. James monastery, built in the twelfth century, was formerly used for housing the thousands of Armenian pilgrims who came annually to Jerusalem. The extensive grounds of the monastery are now occupied by an American agricultural school for orphans, and the residence of the patriarch is a trade school supported by the American Near East Relief.

The Convent of the Holy Cross, standing on the traditional site of the tree from which the Cross was made, is an American hotel for girls. The building is more than a thousand years old.

PORTUGAL CLOSES ALL PUBLIC GAMBLING HALLS

LISBON.—All public gambling halls in Portugal have been ordered closed, and a wave of indignation has swept the larger cities as a result. Several newspapers have taken up the protest, claiming that where gambling formerly was supervised and forced to yield an income to the treasury, it has now been driven to cover, and is flourishing as ever before.

One newspaper alleges that loaded dice, marked cards and other trick devices have been substituted for equipment which, under the gambling regulations, was inspected by the police, and that the public has sustained tremendous losses as a result.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned, wish to extend our thanks to all our friends who have so kindly assisted us in our recent bereavement. Especially do we wish to thank Rev. Gamm, the pallbearers and the choir for their beautiful offerings.

MRS. W. BURROW AND FAMILY.

SACAJAWEA

Sophie Braslan, contralto, is playing the role of Sacajawea, Indian heroine in "Americana," a pageant being held in Seattle, Wash. She will sing the president's favorite, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," when the Harding party attends the pageant.

BANANAS A RARITY IN BERLIN

BERLIN.—Bananas have been so rare in Germany for the last two years that a Berlin fruit shop almost created a panic by exhibiting two complete bunches on Potsdamer street. Crowds gathered about and eagerly asked the price. The bananas sold for 5,000 marks each which at the current rate of exchange was about six cents.

About 149 pounds of meat to each person were consumed in the United States last year.

BADGER RETAILERS MEET AT GREEN BAY LATE IN AUGUST

GREEN BAY, Wis.—Details of the program for the convention of the Wisconsin Retailers Association to be held here August 20-22 are being worked out by a committee of the local association of commerce and the Retail Association's Milwaukee office, according to an announcement by F. M. Blahnik, retail division of the Green Bay association of commerce.

Judge Henry Graas is scheduled to speak on "State Legislation." Charles H. Goldman, president of the Wisconsin Retailers Association, will also address the convention.

Delegates will visit the Wisconsin state reformatory while here, and luncheon, dancing and theatre parties will be provided by the local committee for entertainment features.

NORMANNA GIVES FINE CONCERT IN VIROQUA THEATER

Normanna Saengerker gave a successful concert in Viroqua Thursday night. Over 800 persons packed the theater to enjoy the event and the encores attested to the appreciation of the audience. E. O. Persell, director, was the soloist of the evening, and Dr. Siverson gave an interesting talk on Norwegian folk songs. The trip to and from Viroqua was made in motor cars, and the road was rather hazardous, but all the cars got through safely and the local singers arrived home early this morning.

HARDING'S SHIP RAMS WARSHIP IN SEATTLE HARBOR

value of the publication will remain unchanged.

"There is a limited reflex of the big news of the world, with a larger relative regard for pugilism than world politics, but human interest is fairly satisfied with the tabloid story of world events. Doubtless the Alaskan community is quite as well nourished mentally with its restricted news diet as are some of us who find our newspaper fully, through elaborated and explicated stories of crime and scandal, and wander through a haze of speculation and politics."

"The big asset in the successful Alaskan sheet is the home news and when the final analysis of the ranking of a newspaper is written, here is the secret of most newspaper successes. Give me a newspaper which is a true reflex of the community it serves and I know I am reading an index of dependable public opinion as well as a potent agent in moulding that opinion."

Praises Northern Press

"An impressive feature of Alaskan press was its manifest honesty, oftentimes revealing frankness. An honest and an intelligent press, which necessitates a highly purposeful press, affords a limited opportunity for community service and the loftiest employment in life. It may preach to the larger congregation; it has every opportunity to command and defend the law; it is the effective mouthpiece of our politics; it is the teacher which knows no vacation; it is the recording agent of human accomplishment whose simple story is the ever continuing inspiration to loftier achievement. Let those of us who find pride in association with the making of the American press, the best press in the world, resolve upon a full appraisal of our responsibilities and see that conscience is maintained as editor-in-chief, and that accomplishment writes the big hours which are ever giving the exhilarating thrill to the daily grind."

Pay Neighborly Call
VANCOUVER, B. C.—By The A. P. neighborly call. That is President Harding's conception of the international historic event which took place in Vancouver Thursday. The head of the big household south of the 49th parallel dropped in to see his neighbor to the north in much the same spirit, as Mr. Harding put it himself, as one runs next door to borrow a couple of eggs.

That was not only the sentiment expressed in words by the chief executive of the American republic on each of the four or five occasions that he addressed assemblies of Canadian citizens. It was the manner in which he conducted himself throughout the entire day.

It was, too, the spirit in which the people of Canada received the first visit to the domain ever paid by a president of the United States.

For it was the people of Canada who received him. Not only did the 250,000 people of Greater Vancouver turn out in a body to shout their greetings to the president, but another 50,000 from the Fraser valley, from the interior and north of the province, and even from Alberta and Saskatchewan flocked into the city for the same purpose by every transportation facility available.

When the Henderson raised anchor and sailed for Seattle, the combined traffic policemen of Vancouver raised a sigh of relief. But the misbehaved mob of Canadians which had been complicating their task all day stood around the water front and yelled "Come again."

MORE BANANAS FROM MEXICO

MEXICO CITY.—The dredging of the port of Frontera, to permit the entry of large steamers, is completed, and a boom in the export of bananas is expected as a result. Frontera assembled over 4,000,000 bunches of bananas last year, but less than half could be moved because of the lack of harbor facilities. New oil wells at Tabasco also are expected to add to the maritime activity of Frontera.

PLAN TO TURN DRY VIOLATORS OVER TO U. S. OFFICERS

DOWAGIAC, Mich.—Cass county has found the prosecution of persons arrested on liquor charges too expensive to be perpetuated. Consequently all liquor offenders hereafter will be turned over to the federal government.

The step is taken to save the county all jury and court expenses, the costs of keeping prisoners in jail and the expense necessary in the procuring of evidence against offenders.

ROY AHLSTROM AND GEORGE BUNGE ARE ADMITTED TO BAR

MADISON, Wis.—Wisconsin lawyers had their ranks swollen by 82 with the announcement that that number had passed the Bar examination. The examination was taken by 122. Roy Victor Ahlstrom and George Bunge were the only successful candidates from La Crosse.

TEXAS CONGRESSMAN FREED OF LIBEL CHARGE

COMANCHE, Texas.—Congressman Thomas L. Blanton Thursday was acquitted of a charge of libel of Former Congressman Oscar Callaway.

The jury was out three hours. Mr. Blanton and Mr. Callaway were pitted against each other on the stump in 1922. Mr. Blanton defeated Mr. Callaway and went to congress representing the 17th district.

The case centered about a campaign document alleged to have appeared in the El Paso, Texas, News on July 16, 1922, touching upon Mr. Callaway's war record.

DENVER BANK CLOSES

DENVER, Colo.—The Hibernia Bank and Trust company of Denver with deposits of $1,377,729, according to its last statement, closed its doors Friday.

The following notice was posted on the door of the bank: "This bank is in the hands of the state banking examiner." It was signed by M. C. Harrigan and Leo P. Floyd, officers of the bank.

The shortage which caused the Hibernia Bank and Trust company of Denver to close its doors will total at least $200,000 and possibly more, state officials and officers of the bank announced.

RAIN HAILED WITH JOY

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—General rain which fell throughout Minnesota and the Dakotas in the past twelve hours was heralded as "a million dollar rain." Crop experts said the precipitation greatly improved the corn crop without seriously hampering the harvest of small grains.

AMERICAN GIRL TO WED COUSIN OF SERBIAN KING

VENICE, Calif.—Miss Louise MacLachlan, formerly of Detroit, later of Venice, Calif., and more recently of Athens, Greece, where she has been connected with the Near East Relief, will be married August 14 to Prince Oleg Vladimirovich, a cousin of the king of Serbia, according to a letter from her to her brother, Captain Kenneth D. MacLachlan.

JULIAN BAKER FINED FOR HAVING LIQUOR ON YACHT

NEW YORK.—Julian B. Baker, a member of the Yamaqua Yacht club, in Sheepshead Bay and said by Edward Barnes, assistant collector of customs, to be a brother of Former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, was fined $1,000 after coast guards boarded his motorboat Modesty Thursday outside the three mile limit and found six cases of whiskey aboard.

SHARP BREAK COMES ON STOCK EXCHANGE

NEW YORK.—A sharp break in prices took place in Friday's stock market, more than a score of the leading railroad and industrial issues falling to new low prices for the year. The disquieting European situation and the failure of hot weather in the southwest to attract buying interests explained most of today's selling pressure.

DANE COUNTY MAN KILLED AT BARRON

BARRON, Wis.—Frank G. Good, pioneer Dane county settler, was killed almost instantly Thursday afternoon when the car in which he was riding was struck by a speeding train a few miles from here.

SPARTA YOUTH IS DROWNED AT GARY WHILE SWIMMING

Ralph Farnham Meets Tragic Fate Near Gary, Ind., on July 20th

SPARTA, Wis. — Special — The friends in Sparta of Ralph Farnham, who were shocked to hear of his death by drowning while swimming in Lake Michigan near Gary, Indiana, where he had been employed, Mr. Farnham had gone swimming with several friends Friday night of last week and was taken with cramps, and went down before help could reach him. The body was recovered Saturday morning about nine thirty o'clock, in 150 feet of water.

Ralph Farnham was born on a farm near Sparta in 1902, Sept. 27, and attended the East Beaver Creek school, after which he entered high school at Sparta, graduating with the class of 1922. He played in the high school football and basketball, was a member of the Glee Club, and was president of the senior class of 1922. He was also prominent in athletics.

At the time of the organization of the military company in this city, after the war, Ralph enlisted and was promoted until he became first sergeant. This rank he held until his removal from the city and his discharge. The last year, he has been working for the Elgin Steel company, at Gary, Ind., and expected to transfer to the State University at Madison in the fall. He received his enlistment blank the day before the accident that caused his death.

The body was brought to Sparta Sunday by his brother, Harry J. Farnham, and taken to the Farnham Undertaking parlors, and on Monday morning was taken to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Farnham on Black River Street, where the funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at two thirty o'clock. The burial was in the Burns cemetery.

Survivors Besides his parents, he is survived by several sisters and brothers—Miss D. E. Farnham, Harrison, N. Y.; Harry D. of Milwaukee; Roy of Ironwood, Mich.; Eugene of Minneapolis; and Mrs. Marie Mott of Livingston, Mont.; Mrs. Lillian Page of Borgell, N. Y. and Mrs. A. L. March of Spokane, Wash. A room-mate, Edward Schom of Gary accompanied the body to Sparta, and remained for the funeral.

Attempts are to be made this summer to recover the $25,000 in bounty which was not in the insurance policy by the Farnham family.

THE FEMININE SIDE OF POLITICS

Mrs. Charles H. Sabin (center), newly appointed National Committee Woman from New York state, conferred recently with Miss Helen Boswell (left), vice chairman of the Republican County Committee of New York, and Miss Florence Wardwell (right), vice chairman of the Republican Women's State Executive Committee. They outlined policies to be followed in coming campaigns.

RAIN DAMAGES CROPS
BIRCHWOOD, Wis. — The corn and oats crops in this region were seriously damaged when a heavy rain flattened the crops on many farms. Other grains also were damaged by the rain. Farmers say that the corn will raise from the ground but the oats will cause a loss in many cases to farmers. The oats crop was damaged about the time it was ready to harvest. The rain was the first in several weeks of any consequence.

END 575 MILE WAGON TRIP
ORTONVILLE, Minn. — Completing a trip of 575 miles in covered wagons, the families of P. J. Wilkie and D.

EIGHT YEAR OLD JOY RIDER

RUNS AFLOU OF POLICE
CHICAGO. — Bud Rooney, 8 years old, was having an exciting race with J. E. Wellmuth until Policeman J. P. Savage interrupted the contest.

Savage stopped Bud when he saw him standing in the seat of a touring car, driving down the street, with Wellmuth in hot pursuit. The boy said two boys helped him crank the car and then left him. He was returned to his parents with the warning to ask permission before he took his next joy ride.

URGES SPECIAL CARE FOR

ANIMALS IN HOT WEATHER
MADISON, Wis. — A. E. Frederick, state humane officer, urges that special care should be given domestic animals during hot weather. Shelter is needed in hot weather no less than in winter, he says. He points out that many animals die from want of shelter from the sun and that the resultant loss is greater than the small investment required to give them shelter and comfort. He also advises against shipping livestock at this season.

DEATH CHARGE DISMISSED:

HEN'S DEMISE AN ACCIDENT
CHICAGO. — William Watts has been freed of a charge of having slain a chicken in 1918 in the suburb of Oak Park.

"How does one go about killing a chicken legally?" Superior Judge David Watts had appealed from the decision of a justice of the peace, who had fined him $3 for "beating and torturing" a chicken which he seized on his domain and threw over the fence.

The defense claimed the chicken fell and broke its neck and then the state admitted its inability to prove the corpus delicti, and the judge dismissed the case.

HARVEST NEAR CLOSE
ANNANDALE, Minn. — This week will about finish up harvesting in this vicinity. Some of the early threshers gave out as yielding 72 bushels to the acre. Pastures and corn are suffering for the lack of rain.

She Found 1095 New Hours

IT is over a year since the Chambers Range went on duty in her kitchen. She has time now to enjoy her children, and likes to tell her friends how she has already found 1095 new hours. She is our best salesman.

The Chambers Hood, showing construction and the thorough insulation.

The Chambers Oven, showing construction and thickness of insulation.

The Chambers way of cooking does more than save precious time; it gives you wholesome, appetizing food with about half the gas used in an ordinary range. The Chambers oven roasts meats and fowl and bakes bread, cake and pies; the hood boils vegetables, cereals, pot-roasts—all with the gas turned off most of the time.

Cuts the Gas Bill in Half. The additional cost of the Chambers Range soon comes back in the saving in gas. You save 70% gas in roasting, baking and boiling, and on a monthly average you can cut your gas bill in half.

There's a size for every kitchen—beautiful, new models in all-white, and black and white.

Only $10 down! An initial payment of $10 puts this wonderful range in your kitchen. The remainder can be paid in easy monthly payments. Why go on cooking the old, inefficient way?

ORE DISCOVERY BRINGS NEW LIFE TO BADGER CITY

Mellen Expected to Experience Boom as Result of Finding of Hematite Iron Ore

MELLEN, Wis., July 27.—The discovery of a rich vein of hematite iron ore in the Berkshire mine here may result in a boom for this little city which for several years has been facing extinction due to the falling lumber supply in the vicinity.

The new ore is said to assay 66 per cent pure metal to the ton, more than the 50 per cent necessary to make it fit for the smelters without preliminary refining. This means that if the deposit at the Berkshire mine is a large one the ore will be shipped direct to the smelters on the lower lake ports.

Mellen lies twenty miles from Ashland by railroad. Ashland is one of the largest ore shipping points on the Great lakes, so the proximity of Mellen to the cheap lake transportation is expected to mean a large profit to the owners of the Berkshire mine. Mining experts are working eagerly to determine the lay and extent of the new vein and are hopeful that a big deposit will be uncovered.

The Berkshire is an old mine which was given up several years ago because of the low grade of ore it produced. It was reopened last spring, giving employment to about 100 Mellen's unemployed men and causing considerable retooling for the big lumber tracts that in the past built up and developed the locality are about all out, and Mellen was facing the fate of all lumber towns—slow extinction.

URGES TRADE NAMES FOR DAIRY PRODUCTS

EAT CLAIRE, Wis.—J. M. Kelley, representing the Wisconsin Dairymen's Inc., is conducting a tour through the state in the interest of better butter merchandising. Cooperative creameries of Wisconsin should adopt trade names for quality products, cream butter and cheese and merchandising them through advertising, is his advice.

ILLINOIS PASTOR TO TAKE JANESVILLE PULPIT

JAIL SENTENCE FOR MAN DRIVING CAR WHILE INTOXICATED

WINONA.—John Behrens, 24 years old, of Rochester, was sentenced to serve 10 days in the Winona county jail when he pleaded guilty today in municipal court to a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated Sunday afternoon on Glenmore avenue.

A companion, E. A. Younger, 22 years old, also of Rochester, was fined $10 for intoxication.

The pair were arrested when they entered the city after police had received a telephone report from Stockton that their automobile had struck a machine driven by I. A. Deike, 471 East Sanborn street, near that village.

Former premier of France says the car doesn't turn. Guess Europe will blame this on America.

INSULIN NOT CURE FOR DIABETES SAYS HOPKINS PROFESSOR

New Remedy Can Only be Considered as Temporary Relief, Declares Expert

BALTIMORE.—Insulin, the new remedy for diabetes, is not to be considered in any sense as a cure for that disease, and it is not of such nature as to obviate the necessity of careful diet for all persons undergoing the so-called insulin treatment. These statements are made by Dr. William S. McCann, associate professor in Johns Hopkins Medical School and associate physician of Johns Hopkins Hospital, under whose care severe cases of diabetes are being given the insulin treatment at the hospital.

Dr. McCann says:

"Insulin is not a cure. It is, however, in our experience a specific remedy for diabetes, which has already saved many lives and has alleviated much suffering from the disease. Its effects are only temporary, leaving the fundamental condition of the disease unchanged. The discoverer of insulin, Dr. Banting, has always been very careful not to make the claim that insulin cures diabetes. The manufacturers, Eli Lilly and Co., in the advertising matter on insulin, are likewise careful not to make this extravagant claim. Never before has a great medical discovery been given to the world with more unselfishness on the part of its author, or by more ethical manufacturers. The most that can be said for insulin is that it is a specific remedy for diabetes which restores the metabolism to normal as long as the treatment is continued. In some cases the beneficial effects may continue for a short period after discontinuing the treatment. Sooner or later the patients always return to the condition preceding the treatment unless it is resumed.

SEEK ELIMINATION OF SUMMER FURS

Fashion's Decree for Furs All Year Around Arouses Anxiety Among Scientists

WASHINGTON. — A. P. Fashion's decree that women shall wear furs the year round has aroused great apprehension among naturalists. Says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society, whose officials believe that some of the animals that are abundant today may soon be in the class of the auk and the dodo. "It is only by educating the American people to the need for periods of protection of these animals," the bulletin says, "that we will be able to preserve one of the country's most valuable assets for the enjoyment and profit of future generations."

Recently the society sent an expedition to an island off the coast of Lower California to try to find specimens of the great seal colonies which used to inhabit the island, but not a single animal was seen.

It has been estimated that America spends yearly $100,000,000 for furs, and the society declares that the beaver, marten, skunk, muskrat and other animals are not only paying with their lives, but with the threatened extinction of their kind.

Public Debate

CASE FOR DRAINAGE

Editor Tribune.

Dear Sir: At a meeting last evening in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce, the question of the Wisconsin League of America and the conservation of the land owners, agriculturists and the general public, was thoroughly thrashed out. The land owners contend that under the swamp act of 1890, the state government gave lands to the states. The states in turn conveyed the lands to the private owners, with the specific intent of the swamp act, and the proceeds from the sale of these lands should go toward the construction of levees and drainage facilities in the states. They contend that the right to levee and drain their land, and that was the purpose for which they purchased it. Contrary to the desire of the land owners, the money which was received from the sale of the swamp lands were put into the educational institutions and the money was not used in land reclamation, so that the land owners feel that they should not pay the taxes on the land, but that the general public should have free use of the same. If the general public wishes to have free use of this land, the general public should secure possession by purchase.

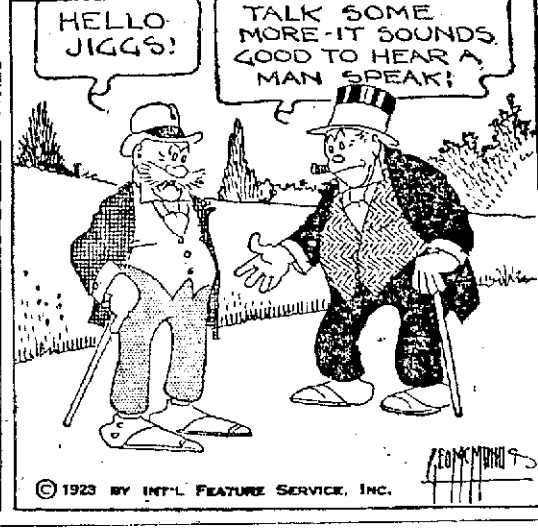

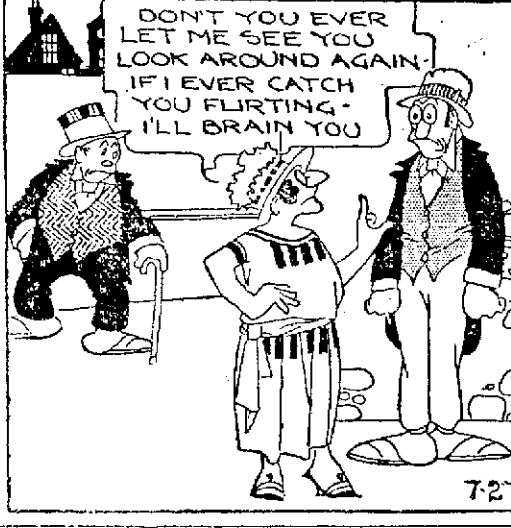

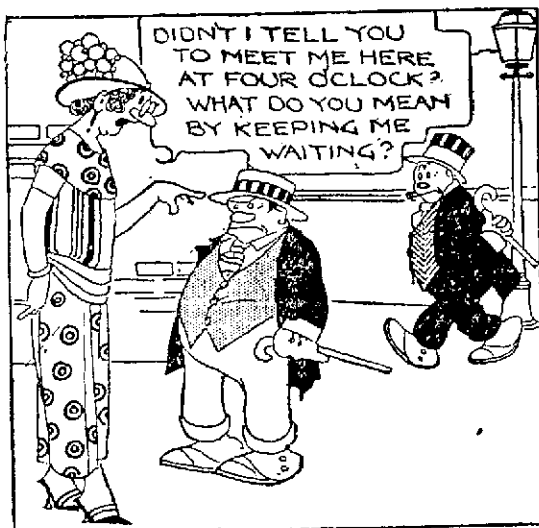

But the conservation of the swamp lands, the various states passed laws which have been the outcome of the desire of the people and reclamation of the swamp lands, the improvement of the Wisconsin levee act, as proposed, the state requires that the land owners must petition for the improvement. The land owners signed a petition, consisting of fifty per cent of the land owners in the district and placed the petition before the court. The court, after extensive hearings in which prominent citizens of La Crosse and other cities that are interested in reclamation had an opportunity to be heard, rendered a decision in favor of the land owners and appointed a board of directors. The board's recommendation was that a permit should be secured from the war department. The proper data was prepared and approved was given by the state chief engineer, and investigations were made of the soil by the college of agriculture of the state of Wisconsin. Soil borings were taken and the college of agriculture declared that this land was one of the richest tracts of its size in the entire state.

The next step was to go before the railroad commission on the question of public welfare and sanitation and navigation. The land owners were in court at Prairie du Chien, and were contested by interests from La Crosse and surrounding towns with able counsel, and the court decided that it was to the better utility and public welfare to reclaim this rich bottom land, than it was to preserve it for aquatic resources and the preparation of muskeels. The next step necessary was to place the whole matter before the state and the court after a thorough hearing before the court in which all interested for and against, were represented by prominent men, and able counsel, the court decided to instruct the land owners to proceed with the improvement of the lands and approved the procedure.

The bureau of fisheries fought the project because they take the fish from the ponds and sloughs and ship about two car loads a week during the latter part of the summer to lakes in the interior of the state but the land owners contend that they are paying taxes on these lands and are not getting any return from the use which the bureau of fisheries receives in reclamation and that it leaves and dikes were constructed, the fish could not get marooned in the ponds by reason of the levees preventing the same. It would be unnecessary for the government to expend money for the support of the bureau of fisheries, receiving in return these fish from ponds. Again the land owners contend that the government is expending millions of dollars on the river to confine the river in one channel. In order that it does not divert and change its channel down the numerous sloughs which exist in the river floor. By constructing dikes, the water will be confined in one channel, and this prevent permanently the diverting of waters through the small channels and save the enormous sum to the government by reason of this construction.

The second factor opposing the project is the button industry, which contends that fish should be propagated in order that muskeels can be produced, but although overtures have been made to the button industry, to purchase the lands for the development of muskeels, the button industry has not been received by the land owners and so the land owners are contending that the use of the button industry, by the bureau of fisheries, by the commercial fishermen, by the game and deer hunters, and the moonshiners is being done at their expense, which is unjust. These facts were presented by Mr. Charles H. Young, the promoter for the project and first vice president of the National Drainage Congress of the United States of America. Mr. Young further declared that the St. Lawrence project came before congress and it was proposed to spend millions of dollars for an outlet for the waters of our country through the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence and thus divert our products to England and French markets. The various cities on the Mississippi river and its tributaries, such as Kansas City, Missouri, St. Louis on the Mississippi, Pittsburgh and other cities along the Ohio river, and cities across the upper and lower river such as New Orleans, Memphis, and other towns got busy and presented their side of the case. They stated that instead of diverting the produce of the country through the St. Lawrence,

BRINGING UP FATHER

rence, that the produce should be directed through the heart of the country, on the Mississippi river, which tips almost the entire central part of the country. In this manner the produce would go south and through the Panama canal, to the far east, and south to South American markets, and east to Africa and European markets. As the result of this enormous organization which was built up on the Mississippi for the improvement of the Mississippi river, for transportation purposes, congress voted fifty-six million dollars towards the improvement of the river and harbors in the United States of which ten million annually was for the purpose of improving the river and its tributaries, so that all along the river in much as Dayton, port and other ports, they have been encouraged to build wharfs for transportation and this movement is very powerful and far reaching. There is also on the lower river some nine hundred thousand acres of land in levee and drainage districts which was valued by the United States government in 1914, as being worth one hundred twenty million dollars. These interests organized an immense association called the Flood Protective association, and held hearings before a congress at which various interests with able counsel were present and the result of this investigation was that the government placed its stamp of approval on continuing the river in its present channel, in order that it might scour deeper, and keep the river within its bounds, thus improving navigation. The expenditure of muskeels and swamps which breed disease was also given approval, after an investigation by experts that they exercise eminent domain by a state can only be made for the purpose of building railroads, purchase of parks and cemeteries and at present there is no federal law or state law enacted permitting the exercise of eminent domain for the purpose of purchasing lands for the development of aquatic resources, and the development of the muskeel propagation, so that before the lands could be purchased by the state, the state legislature must pass a law in which the exercise of eminent domain is granted. Next the legislature must pass appropriations for the specific purchase each time that they exercise eminent domain and all of the property owners in the state who are farmers and are citizens in towns will have something to say as to whether they want to pay taxes toward the purchase of these lands.

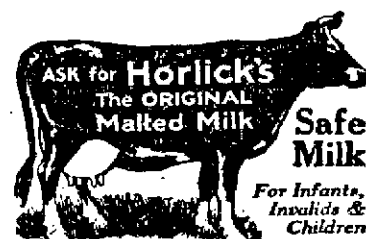

It is further contended by the land owners that there are four interests on the Mississippi river—the agricultural interests and the development of the river for navigation purposes and the one hundred thousand acres of aquatic resources and plant life development on the other hand, and that each has its rights and that the rights of each should be protected. The land owners believe in out-door America, and are in favor of preserving wild life so long as the preservation is not done at their expense. They contend that on the Mississippi river, between Rock Island and Lynxville, that there are no projects that will ever be built for agricultural purposes because the valley is so narrow, that economic construction of dikes and levees and pumping stations would be impracticable, and that in this portion of the river, with its beautiful islands and in a great many places sandy soil made from sand discharged from the Wisconsin river, will never be tampered with for agricultural purposes, and they are contending that there will be thousands of acres which are not adaptable for agricultural and reclamation purposes. As these two hundred and fifty thousand acres would remain for out-door life, aquatic resources, and the propagation of muskeels, and that one hundred thousand acres are suitable for reclamation purposes. It seems to be a fair division, when the one hundred and fifty thousand acres which cannot be reclaimed do not cost the government anything, because it is not possible to economically reclaim it.

There is a state law at this time prohibiting cities from polluting streams, and this is a manner in which pollution can be prevented, not by spreading pollution over all the flood area and swamps.

The land owners feel that much agitation and facts are being presented against their interests, and that in this American government taxation without remuneration is unjust and that they are entitled to a fair consideration by the people who are benefited by the usage of their lands from which they get nothing but scenery value. They also contend that the lovers of nature who have their rights are building up a political organization in the country, which would attempt to prevent the land owners from exercising their just rights by political influence, and that an attempt is being made to pass such laws which would confiscate their rights and therefore this is unjust and impracticable.

At the Ladies Aid Meeting Yesterday

Mapl-Flake was the big subject of conversation. Mrs. Brown said: "The thing I like about it is that there is enough bran in the whole wheat to keep my family regulated, and they don't even know they are eating bran."

In addition to the bran in Mapl-Flake, it is a perfectly balanced food, rich in phosphorus and lime for making brain, nerve and bone; in iron for making good red blood, and in the life-giving vitamins so necessary to good health.

Good for Children

Mapl-Flake is selected whole wheat, sweetened, flaked, and toasted to a delicious brown. It is so appetizing and tasty that you would never guess it is 25% bran—enough to be a harmless, natural, non-habit-forming laxative. Be a "Mapl-Flaker"—it's the food that keeps you "right."

CRICQUI DETHRONED BY DUNDEE THURSDAY AFTER BRIEF REIGN

VETERAN OF 300 BATTLES WRESTS FEATHER CROWN

Frenchman Beaten from Time He Was Dropped in the First Round

GLORY OF BATTLE GOES TO EX-POILU, HERO OF VERDUN

Dundee Puzzled by Grit and Stamina of Opponent

NEW YORK—By The Associated Press.—Johnny Dundee, veteran of more than 300 ring battles, Friday holds the throne toward which he has fought for thirteen years—the featherweight championship of the world as a result of his spectacular decision victory Thursday night over Eugene Cripqui, French holder of the title, in fifteen rounds at the Polo grounds.

But while the honors of that triumph rest with the little Italian-American, the glory of battle went to the vanquished—the slender ex-poilu, hero of Verdun, who went down to defeat, fighting to the last against a relentless foe.

Dundee won clearly, taking every round, but the crowd was constantly divided between admiration for his ability and the stoic defense of the Frenchman, who never relinquished the advance and fought back when he had scarcely strength to stand.

A crowd estimated by promoters at 40,000, was in the Polo grounds Thursday night at the start of preliminaries to the Johnny Dundee-Eugene Cripqui featherweight title fight.

Cripqui lost his title in the same arena where he had lived it, from Johnny Kilbane less than two months ago by knocking out the veteran in the sixth round. He was outclassed from start to finish. He was a beaten boxer from the time Dundee dropped him for a count of nine in the first round. He was on the verge of a knockout in the second round, when Dundee's right hooks felled him twice for long counts. He was tottering in the seventh and eighth, barely able to hang on in the twelfth and thirteenth. But he kept trying to fight back, swinging and stumbling at his fleeing bounding target.

Dundee seemed puzzled by the stamina and grit of his rival. His blows floored him, but they could not keep him down and after the second round the Frenchman was never off his feet.

Cripqui will sail back to France next Monday without the laurels which he hoped to take to his native country.

The New York state boxing commission Friday announced that it had suspended Tom O'Rourke, matchmaker of the Polo grounds Athletic club who promoted Thursday night's title battle between Eugene Cripqui and Johnny Dundee, in which Dundee captured the featherweight title from the Frenchman.

HOME RUN DAY CELEBRATED IN MAJOR LEAGUES THURSDAY CY WILLIAMS CLOUTS PAIR

CHICAGO, Ill.—By The Associated Press.—Home Run day was celebrated yesterday in the big leagues. Cy Williams of the Phillies, regained the round trip crown after his tie with Babe Ruth, by knocking out two homers against St. Louis, making his season total 25. The other non-stopppers of the day were hammered out by Mousie for the Giants, Miller for the Cubs, Traynor for the Pirates, Miller for the Athletics, Gharrity for the Senators and Walker for the Phillies. Cy's second fence splitter, which was made in the eighth inning of the Phillies' game in St. Louis, drove in Mitchell and won the game 5 to 1. In Philadelphia Sam Jones, the Yankee batter, won the game both ways when he made runs out of his two hits, and did a good job at keeping the Athletics from going the rounds too often. The New York team took the third straight game of their series with the Mack men, four to three. At a double-headed festival in Boston the honors were split. Washington taking one game 15 to 3, and the Lome team capturing the other 7 to 6.

The Giants lost to the Cubs in Chicago in a close running heavy hitting game 11 to 10. In the ninth inning the Giants were three ahead when Rosy Ryan blew up, four runs counting.

The Pirates defeated Boston in the twelfth inning when Traynor hit a homer. After the locals tied the score in the ninth, Boston pushed a run across in the tenth, but the Pirates again evened it up with hits by Bigbee, Maraville and Grimm.

After a switch in the Reds' positions the Brooklyn obins felt easy victims to the Cincinnati team, who played on their home grounds and lost 9 to 2, evening the series.

Pirates Win First Extra Inning Tilt of Year, 8 to 7

CHICAGO.—Chicago came from behind on Thursday and by staging a ninth inning rally defeated New York 11 to 10 in the first game of the series. It was the first game of the season which Bill Ryan lost and he pitched only two balls.

The game, which lasted two hours and forty-five minutes was one of the wildest played here in some time. Thirty-two men participating and each club using four pitchers. After the hitting of Earl Muesel, who drove in seven of the world's champions runs, the Giant pitchers became wild one inning seeing three visiting hurlers in the mound.

Leathrote started the winning rally with a single. Elliott also singled and Hartnett batted for Bassett. He also hit safely scoring Leathrote and Vogel was sent in to run for Hartnett. Ryan replaced McQuillan and Stutz hit the first ball pitched in a double ending. Elliott and Vogel home tying the score. Stutz went to third on the throw home and scored when Adams singled to left.

Fiberg was banished from the game for disputing Umpire O'Day's decision on a third strike. The score: R H E New York ..... 12 10 2 0-10 12 1 Chicago ..... 11 10 2 0-11 12 0

Batteries—Scott, Watson, McQuillan, Barnes, Ryan and Snyder, Gowdy, Kaufman, Cheever, Dumovich, Russell and O'Farrell.

REDS, 9; ROBINS, 2
CINCINNATI.—(A. P.)—Rueher was hit twice and Cincinnati easily won the second game of the series with Brooklyn, 9 to 2. Donohue was in excellent form, having perfect control and not allowing a runner to reach first base after the fifth inning. Finelli returned to third base for the Reds after an injury. Boone's fast hitting was a feature. The score: R H E Cincinnati ..... 9 0 0 0-9 0 0 Brooklyn ..... 2 0 0 0-2 0 1

Batteries—Reicher and DeBerry, Donohue and Hargrave.

PIRATES, 8; BRAVES, 7
PITTSBURGH.—(A. P.)—The Pirates won their first extra inning game of the season on Thursday when Traynor hit a home run to win the game after two were out, giving Pittsburgh the edge over Boston by a score of 8 to 7. Score: R H E Pittsburgh ..... 8 0 0 0-8 0 0 Boston ..... 7 0 0 0-7 0 1

Batteries—Marquard and O'Neill, Gibson, Cooper, Kuntz, Hamilton and Schmidt.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—(A. P.)—Williams' home in the eighth inning, scoring Mitchell, who had doubled ahead of him, gave Philadelphia the tally necessary to win from St. Louis on Thursday, 5 to 4. It was Williams' second homer of the game and his twenty-fifth of the season. His first homer was in the fourth inning with no one on base. Both were off Tony, Rogers Hornsby's safety, the first inning was his one hundredth of the season. Score: R H E Philadelphia ..... 5 0 0 1-5 0 0 St. Louis ..... 4 0 0 0-4 0 1

Batteries—Mitchell and Henline; Toney, Pfeffer and Almsmith.

MADISON BLUES IN TOWN FOR A BRACE OF GAMES WITH THE NELSONS SATURDAY, SUNDAY

THIS rejuvenated Madison Blues dash into La Crosse for the week-end for a brace of exhibitions with the La Crosse Nelsons at Copeland park. Saturday afternoon's game is scheduled to swing into action at 4:30, with Sunday's melee coming off at the usual hour of three.

This afternoon the Blues were scheduled to battle West Salem. Since the Blues put in their last appearance on the local field, they have added considerable strength to the pitching staff in the form of Eddie Foster, formerly of the range league. Foster's work on the hill has made a different ball club out of the Blues and they seem to have all kinds of confidence in him. He will no doubt be held in reserve for Sunday's game.

Wurth, Plattville second sacker, has been added to the club recently and Madison reports credit him with being about the fastest and most clever man seen in a uniform there this year.

Frank La Hall is still with the club. He experienced an off day Thursday when he went down in defeat before the Neenah-Menasha state leagues, 9 to 1, but with that exhibition out of his system he should be more effective against the locals.

Against Foster on Sunday the locals will pit Stromwell. Stanley will no doubt be the choice of Manager Satek for the matinee on Saturday.

The brace of games will be the first of the Nelsons with the Madison Blues and a pair of fifty exhibitions ought to be seen.

SWOSH! AND BABE SPRAINED HIS NECK

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Babe Ruth swung so hard at the first ball pitched him by Harps in the first inning of the Philadelphia-New York American league game Thursday that he sprained his neck and was forced to leave the game.

THE PLAY

With runners on second and third and two out, the batsman received a base on balls.

The fourth ball was a wild pitch, the runners on second and third scoring, while the batsman reached second. In running to second the batter failed to touch first base.

The first baseman called for the ball. It was thrown to him, and he touched first base. The umpire declared the runner out who was standing on second. What about the two runs that had crossed the plate? There are runners on second and third and two men out. With the count three balls and two strikes the next pitch at which the batter struck was a bad ball. It eluded the catcher and went to the grandstand.

The runners on second and third crossed the plate and the batsman reached second.

The batsman in going to second failed to touch first. The ball was thrown to that base, and the umpire ruled him out, retiring the side. What about the two runs that had crossed the plate?

The Interpretation

In the first case, where the batsman received a base on balls and failed to touch first base when he managed to reach second, because the fourth ball was a wild pitch, the two runs scored.

The batsman was entitled to first base, hence there was no chance to make a play in which the batsman failed to reach first because he failed to touch that base on his way to second.

In the other case, where the two runs scored on a third strike that was a wild pitch, the batsman reaching second but failing to touch first, the two runs did not score.

Failure to touch first on the wild third strike simply made a third out in which the batsman failed to reach first, and no runs can score on such a play.

Flippedrums, New York's largest playhouse, is to be torn down and a $15,000,000 hotel built in its place.

Washington and Boston Sox Split Even in Twin Bill

Thursday

BOSTON.—Boston defeated Washington, 7 to 6, in the first game of a double header here on Thursday, but the visitors took the second easily, 15 to 3. Piercy and Murray were ineffective in the second game.

Walter Johnson was losing pitcher in the first game, but in the second he evened his day's score.

First Game—The score: R H E Washington ..... 6 16 4 Boston ..... 15 3 2

Second Game—The score: R H E Washington ..... 3 11 1 Boston ..... 15 3 2

Batteries—Johnson and Ruel; Piercy, Murray and Walters.

EXPERTS ASSERT LIGHTNING RODS PREVENT FIRES

Property Owners Urged to Equip their Buildings; Many Fires
Can be Avoided

NEW YORK. — Property owners throughout the country are urged to equip their buildings with lightning rods by the national board of fire underwriters, which today declared that 69 per cent of the fires caused by lightning could thus be prevented. The losses by fire caused by lightning total $30,000,000 annually.

A widespread indifference to this form of protection exists, however, due to the swindling methods employed by lightning rod dealers in the past, and the fact that it is highly difficult to obtain an expert who can determine whether or not installation has been correctly done.

Careful research by electrical authorities including Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz of the General Electric company, and Thomas A. Edison have proven conclusively the efficiency of the lightning rod as a safety device, the underwriters declare.

To cause the property owners that their lightning rods have been properly installed and are a protection instead of a menace, the board of fire underwriters have adopted a plan whereby a representative of their organization inspects all installations in his district, and affixes a "master label" to the work if it proves worthy.

"Insurance companies will grant a reduction of insurance for lightning rods, in states where reductions are allowed, only on those buildings where the master label is attached along with the identification tag of the company which made the installation," the statement declares.

Laboratory service will be provided by the fire underwriters, where materials submitted by lightning rod companies will be tested for certification. The master label will be attached to the work of only those companies which maintain an inspection service along with their installation service. No lightning rod company is barred from this laboratory service.

The adoption of the "master label" system will mark an era in preventing loss of property and life through lightning, the fire underwriters state, and for the first time standardize lightning rod installation. The system will cover the entire United States and Canada.

A collection of 5,000 American stamps, valued at $125,000, was recently exhibited in London. It belonged to the United States.

EDUCATE ADULTS IN ILLITERACY FIGHT

Vacation Boarding Schools Established in South Carolina

COLUMBIA, S. C.—The summer school idea, in a modified form, is being used by South Carolina in this state's fight to wipe out illiteracy.

Vacation boarding schools for men and women who have lacked educational opportunities have been arranged for this summer by the state department of education, in cooperation with the authorities of Lander College for Women, at Greenwood, and Erskine College for men at Due West. A full month's course in elementary subjects is offered at each institution at a cost of $12.50 to the student, which includes all expenses except transportation and laundry.

Pupils whose education has equalled that of an average sixth grade pupil are not accepted for enrollment, nor are boys and girls under 14 years old.

The pupils live in the college dormitories and eat in the college dining halls, and in fact, according to Miss Will Lou Gray, state supervisor of adult school work, lead the same lives that are led by the college students during the regular terms.

Eighty-nine girls and women attended the first "opportunity" summer school, which was conducted at Lander College last summer. The course offered this summer at Erskine is the first made available to men and boys. The ages of the Lander student ranged from 14 to 54 last year, the average being 18 years. Many of the women came from the cotton mill villages, and not a few of these had their expenses paid by the management of the mills in which they worked for the remainder of the year.

"I wanted to be able to help my little seven-year-old son with his lessons, one of the older women students said last year, when explaining what had prompted her to leave her family and enroll for the summer course."

ANYONE who will follow a simple CERTO recipe can make perfect jam or jelly with any kind of fruit. Only one minute's boiling required—no re-boiling, the right consistency the first time. This saves the delicate color and taste of fresh fruit. Since no fruit juice is boiled away, you get one-half more product—so with CERTO cost per jar is less.

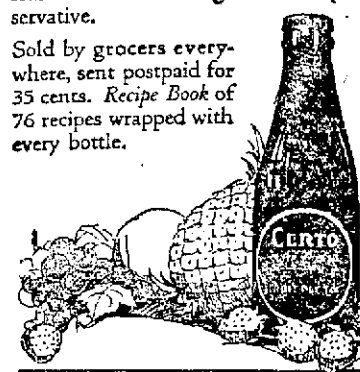

Start making jam and jelly now and see how easy it is to fill your shelves. CERTO is the actual "jelly" property of fruit—it contains no gelatin nor preservative.

Sold by grocers everywhere, sent postpaid for 35 cents. Recipe Book of 76 recipes wrapped with every bottle.

Cherry Jam
Sour cherries give finest flavor. Pit and crush well about 2½ lbs. fruit. Measure 4 level cups (2 lbs.) pitted and crushed cherries into large kettle and add ¼ cup water. Tie 3 tablespoons pits in cloth and crush with hammer. Place with cherries to increase flavor, stir until boiling, cover kettle, simmer 10 minutes, then remove pits. Add 7½ level cups (3¼ lbs.) sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard for 1 minute, remove from fire and stir in 1 bottle (scant cup) CERTO. From time jam is taken off fire allow to stand not over 5 minutes, by the clock, before pouring. In the meantime skim, and stir occasionally to cool slightly. Then pour quickly.

PROPOSED TUNNEL TO BRING OCEANS CLOSER TOGETHER

Construction Work on Tunnel Through the Continental Divide to Begin August 1st

DENVER, Colo.—Actual work on the Moffat tunnel, through the continental divide west of Denver, is expected to begin early next month. The first shovel of dirt may be turned on August 1, Colorado Day. Everything is in readiness to start. Bids for construction are being advertised, and the bonds are being offered for sale.

The Moffat tunnel will cut the rail distance between the Atlantic and the Pacific oceans by 70 miles. Its construction is an engineering feat of much difficulty, and it is of great national importance, for it will open up a large section of land in northwestern Colorado rich in natural resources. The campaign to construct this tunnel has been carried on for the last 50 years. Early in the sixties the pioneers of what is now the state of Colorado realized adequate transportation was necessary to develop the territory, and set about to get it.

The tunnel commences at the headwaters of South Boulder creek in Gilpin county near the town of Tolland, passes under James Peak and crosses a tiffle more than 6 miles west at the headwaters of the Fraser river in Middle Park, Grand county. The western side of the tunnel is 4 1/2 miles from the town of Fraser, Colorado.

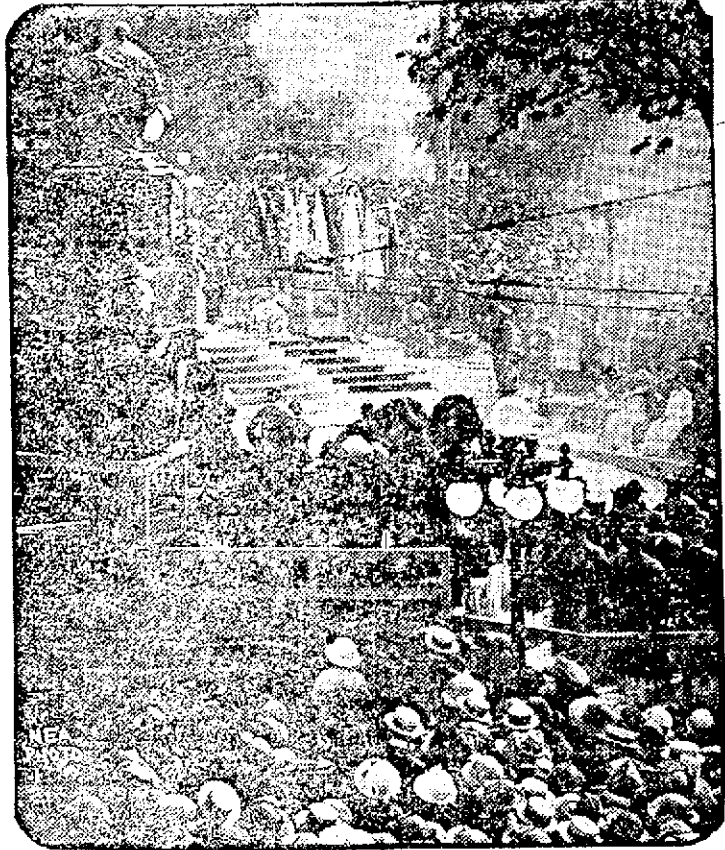

The tunnel will be available immediately to the Denver & Salt Lake railroad, now completed to Craig, Moffat county. The plans of this line include building into Salt Lake City. It also will be available later to the Denver, Rio Grande & Western railroad which now is building a cutoff to connect with the tunnel. The actual saving to the Denver & Salt Lake railroad will be the tortuous climb of 23 miles over the crest of the continental divide, where the Moffat road now crosses the divide above timberline at an elevation of 10,660 feet.

On the Denver & Rio Grande the distance to Salt Lake City will be shortened by 172 miles, through building the cutoff to connect with the tunnel.

The tunnel will be 6.61 miles long. The project consists of a main tunnel 26 by 16 feet in the clear and a pioneer tunnel paralleling it. Trains through the tunnel will be operated by electricity. Provision has been made so that automobiles and other traffic may pass through the tunnel in special cars. The tunnel elevation at the east portal is 9,150 feet, at the west 9,100 feet.

Sponsors of the tunnel predict that ultimately almost all of the railroads entering Denver will use the tunnel as a short cut from Denver west. Tourists who have enjoyed the trip over the continental divide on the Moffat route will mourn the fact that the coming of the tunnel will mean that the famous little station, Corona, 10,660 feet above sea level, now is the highest point in the world where there is a standard gauge railroad. The tunnel will eliminate the climb from Tolland, whose altitude is about 5,000 feet, to Corona. This climb has given many a thrill to Eastern tourists. The grade above Tolland is four percent—almost unprecedented in railroad grades—and there are many curves as the train mounts upward. It is a land of perpetual snow. Even in the middle of June the train, when near the top of the divide, frequently climbs through snowdrifts higher than its car tops.

FISH CARRIES A FLASHLIGHT

Of all the luminous varieties of fish the torchfish is one of the queerest. Upon its nose, and erect upon a short stem, it has a small organ which is phosphorescent.

This fish has the power to make it glow at will. A long and slender filament swings from beneath its lower jaw tufted at the free end, and the torchfish moves this about like a little bait. The small fish are attracted by the light of the torch, and they dart about unsuspectingly in the region of their allurer's capacious mouth, which is open and ready to devour them. Of the ordinary lantern fishes little can be said to explain their luminous organs and their functions. So little is known of the conditions to which the deep sea species are subjected that the real function of their lantern can only be surmised. It may be certainly said, however, that these lights are an asset in procuring food, because they aid the fish to find its way about in the murky depths.

TOURISTS WED IN KNICKERS

PIPESTONE, Minn.—Pipestone had its first "knicker wedding" when a young couple in a touring party bound for the northern part of the state from Lincoln county, S. D., stopped here to be married. Joseph W. Woodward and Vera E. Woodward were the contracting parties and their attendants were Mr. and Mrs. James Nielsen, also of Lincoln county. All the members of the party were attired in their tourist costumes.

MARCONI PREDICTS CHEAPER DISPATCH OF AIR MESSAGES

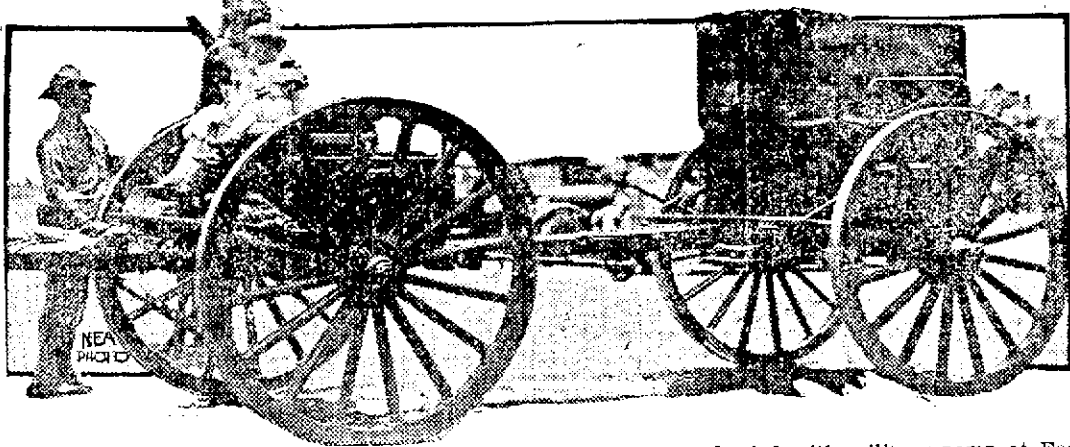

System Evolved by Italian Inventor for Sending of Messages at Low Cost

LONDON.—Another great step in the development of wireless telegraphic transmission has been realized, says Senator Marconi, who has returned to London after a two months' experimental cruise in his yacht "Eleonora." A system has been evolved by the Italian inventor whereby wireless messages are transmitted with a minimum of electrical power, and at very low cost.

"We have transmitted messages up to a distance of 2,250 miles, not only with a very much smaller amount of power and energy, but faster and more cheaply than with the ordinary system of long-distance wireless," said Senator Marconi. "When the new system is adopted it will mean that a power station for long-distance work can be erected at much less cost than at present. I have telegraphed on this system from Cape Verde Islands, off the African coast, to London. To send messages clearly and more rapidly over those 2,500 miles took less power than a message from London to Paris by the ordinary methods."

Senator Marconi explained that these advantages were gained by the utilization of waves that have not before been used. Given the necessary mechanical element, he said, messages could be sent clearly seven times faster than the present rate, and that the public and the newspapers would ultimately have the benefit of much cheaper commercial charges. His opinion is that wire-

ONLY A BURRO, BUT RECEIVES MILITARY FUNERAL

Raggedy Ann, mascot burro of Battery F, 12th Field Artillery, was buried with military pomp at Fort Sam Houston, Tex. Born Armistice Day, she was killed in a fight with pack mules. Virginia Jean and "sonny", children of First Lieutenant Charles M. Thirkield, rode the caisson to the burial ground.

less is only in its infancy, and that the future has in store greater marvels than have been revealed in the past.

Commenting on recent experiments conducted by American inventors looking to privacy in wireless telegraphic conversation, Senator Marconi said he was afraid such an achievement was still far off. "I do not say that wireless telegraphy will ever be an absolutely private means of transmission, but I will say that in the future it will be possible to make it much more difficult for anyone to get messages not intended for them."

Senator Marconi proposes to go on another experimental trip in a few weeks' time, and later to try the new system of long-distance wireless from the coast of the United States to Europe.

WORE NEW DRESSES; FIND THEM SHROUDS

CLEVELAND, Ohio.—Two east side women have discovered that the new silver and grey gowns they have been wearing for nearly a month were burial shrouds that had been stolen from a freight car.

Two 15 years old boys were sentenced to reform institutions for theft of eight shrouds, of which the two were part.

Policemen detailed to investigate the case said that one of the two women, who was wearing the shrouds at the time, nearly fainted when told what the "dresses" really were.

DROUTH SEVERE AT TOMAH

TOMAH, Wis.—This city and its vicinity are still forgotten in the distribution of rain, so generously meted out to the greater portion of Wisconsin. Damage to all crops except corn is resulting. Raspberries have suffered greatly. Not a single shower has relieved the intense heat for the last three weeks.

ANCIENT MAMMAL FOUND IN SANDS OF ARIZONA

YUMA, Ariz.—A petrified specimen believed to be part of the backbone of a prehistoric mammoth or dinosaur with fragments of the ribs still attached has been brought here from the Mohawk district in eastern Yuma county and placed on display.

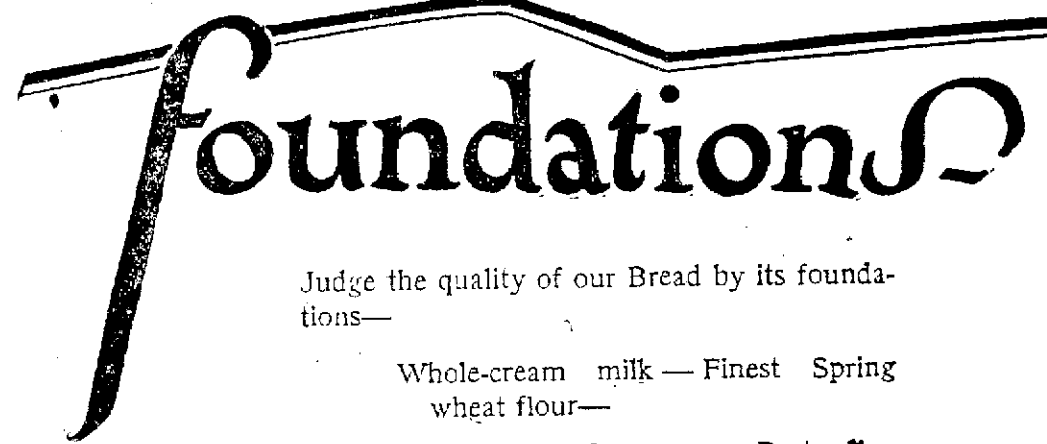

The bones were found in sandy soil but portions of quartz adhering to the bone are believed to indicate that the remains have been under pressure for centuries.

Plans are under way for an expedition to the site of the find in an effort to locate the rest of the gigantic skeleton. If the site proves to be a rich fossil field an attempt probably will be made to interest the University of Arizona in more extensive excavations.

CITY'S OWN ROCK PILE BUILDING GOOD ROADS
PLATTSVILLE, Wis.—Some years ago, before road building assumed its present aggressive status the city council authorized the purchase of the waste rock pile at the Empire mine for $1,200. A rock crusher has been installed and the broken material is being spread on streets. There are several thousand tons of rock in this pile. The city made a good investment. The stone bed will be surfaced with zinc mine tailing affording a permanent roadway at all times.

ADD TWO SCHOOL BUSES
WAKEFIELD, Mich.—Two more auto buses have been added to the equipment with which Wakefield hauls school children from the outlying locations to the city schools. The two buses with sixteen foot bodies will replace two old horse drawn affairs.

ORGANIZE LOBBY TO PROTECT INTERESTS OF AUTO OWNERS

Forty-five Bills Dealing With Use of Automobiles Passed at Last Session

MADISON Wis.—Future legislative sessions will find a powerful lobby to protect the interests of the automobile owners with 45 bills governing and restricting the use of automobiles introduced at the last session, Motor Herald, Wisconsin automobile publication, predicts.

"Motor car owners in Wisconsin have not been given the representation and consideration before the legislature that they have been entitled to for the reason that there has been no functioning body of importance such as the recently organized Milwaukee Motor Club," the publication asserts.

"Because such men as Judge Karel and his associates who are directing its future destiny will hereafter appear in behalf of the owner it is more than possible that the bill that has been grinding out these prospective automobile laws will find a monkey wrench tangled up in its eggs. If the average owner will read the list of bills presented to the legislature he will see at a glance what tremendous efforts are made to suppress the automobile from the standpoint of regulation, license and taxation. True, much of this legislation is due to hysteria and follows unfortunate accidents resulting in death to users of the highways, these incidents result in the introduction of bills that would have far more serious consequences if they were enacted into law than the incident upon which they are based."

CHICAGO—Telegraphers on the Western Pacific railroad have filed a request with the United States railroad labor board asking an increase ranging from 5 to 8 cents an hour.
